Jennifer,

Here's our August 2011 backgrounder (attached); it should give you a broad perspective of the problem and R5 responses until Superfund took lead. The R5 Eastern Sandusky website captures everything that happened subsequent to the family meeting in August 2011.

In addition to the R5 Eastern Sandusky website, Ohio EPA has a website that captures most of the historical documents, <http://epa.ohio.gov/districts/clyde.aspx> Timeline, <http://www.alwayschoosehealth.com/uploads/Clyde%20Timeline%202013.pdf> Sandusky County also has a lot of the historical documents at their website, <http://www.alwayschoosehealth.com/index.php?page=childhood-cancer-in-eastern-sandusky-county>

Feel free to call if you have any questions.

Maryann –

I've recently been assigned the Whirlpool Park site in Eastern Sandusky Ohio. The site was investigated in Superfund as part of the childhood cancer clusters in the area and was found to have PCBs in soil. TSCA is now going to oversee the PCB cleanup at that site. Margaret wanted me to speak with you to understand a little more about the cancer history in the area, particularly as it relates to any community involvement activities you may have been involved with.

Please let me know a good time to talk. I'm in the rest of the day today or we can talk next week.

Thank You,

Jennifer Dodds
